

CRMJ 210C : Juvenile Justice Administration

Theories, causation, and prevention programs are studied. Rehabilitative theories and treatment programs of public institutions and public and private agencies are included. Case studies are made available to the student for analysis. Adolescent behavior, peer pressure, and the role of the family will be examined.

Credits 3

Lab/Practicum/Clinical Hours 0

Lecture Hours 3