

ADED 248C : Dental Hygiene Science - Oral Pathology

Oral pathology includes the study of diseases affecting the oral cavity, manifestations of inflammation, degenerative changes, neoplastic disease, and anomalies. Oral pathology prepares the student to detect deviations from normal in the assessment of a client's systemic and oral health status and to make appropriate decisions regarding referral and treatment when needed.

Credits 2

Lab/Practicum/Clinical Hours 0

Lecture Hours 2

Prerequisite Courses

BIOL 196C

BIOL 202C

ADED 136C