

ENGL 125C : Communication and the Literature of Science and Technology

Built around the theme of science and technology, this course focuses on improving communication skills. Areas of study include critical reading, critical thinking, public speaking, interpersonal communication, and writing. Topics vary and could include any of the following: physical and technical sciences, natural and health sciences, or social sciences. (Students who have received credit for this course cannot also receive credit for COMM 125.)

Credits 3

Lab/Practicum/Clinical Hours 0

Lecture Hours 3