

Communications

Degree Type

Associate of Arts

NHTI's Communications degree program prepares you to build a successful career in today's complex, information-based, media-driven culture and allows you to transfer into a bachelor's degree program in Communications, Media Studies, Journalism, or other related fields. You will gain opportunities to:

- Study communication in everyday relationships, groups, and organizations; students discover how these systems are created, maintained, and improved.
- Learn critical thinking, problem solving, conflict management, and collaborative strategies; students develop leadership, career development, and understanding skills for different situations.
- Develop skills in writing, editing, social media, and analysis; students learn to create and deliver effective messages through written, oral, digital, and broadcast channels.

Program Learning Outcomes

This program seeks to guide and develop students into becoming ethical, hard-working, and thoughtful contributors in their personal lives, careers, and society. Accordingly, the program will develop students' abilities to:

- Exemplify high ethical standards in personal and professional communication.
- Participate in discussions about cultural diversity.
- Communicate through individual and group presentations and speeches and participate in a symposium.
- Effectively employ communications and social media tools.
- Assess the dynamics of interpersonal communication and conflict management involving personal and business relationships.
- Develop a communication plan to enact during a crisis within an organization and then reflect and revise communication strategies used during the crisis.
